WHO ARE WE?

IT'S GOOD TO BE YOURSELVES

JBY; an abbreviation for "Just Be You" is a skincare brand that mainly targets the males of Gen Z as well as Millennials. The brand emphasizes on males embracing their unique personalities and appearance rather than conforming to societal standards on male grooming. JBY is a skincare brand that focuses primarily on skin care products and grooming products for men. We wanted to create a brand that gives men the much-needed confidence and urge to go against the usual societal norms and expectations and accept that everyone is unique. Just Be You will give them the confidence to own and work on grooming themselves rather than changing themselves. Since JBY is a masstige brand, the target market is going to be the upper middle class and upper class who value quality as well as seek premium products with a luxury feel to them at reasonable prices. This also means that males with annual household incomes of 13-15 lac would serve as our target market. JBY's products are organic and vegan with a high focus on animal cruelty-free concept. Therefore the brand is perfectly suitable for Generation Z as well as Millennial males. The brand also targets students as well as office going people, while also focusing especially on the ones who are adventurous and love to go on vacations as they will be interested in our travel friendly packages. A hydrated, well-kept, and taken care of resulting into a glowing and fresh skin.

Coming to the Industry, we are targeting the men's skin care industry that stays relatively untapped in Pakistan. There are very few brands currently operating, those too with a limited range of products (usually containing chemicals), lacking on the marketing front. Recently there has been a lot of awareness campaigns introducing and mainstreaming the idea of skincare in men talking about its importance and need right now and even more in the future when humans have destroyed nature, UV rays, dust and etc. The market isn't tapped fully yet and there is a huge gap which we aim to fill by launching Just Be You as the most suitable option for men.

BUSINESS SITUATION

The men's skincare industry is in boom nowadays and is expected to be expanding in the coming years too. With K-Pop getting its popularity, soft masculinity is also in promotion which is also contributing to an increase in men's use of skincare products. It is a sector that endorses all the new and upcoming products because of their quality and the causes they are working for. For this reason, we chose to work in this industry. Furthermore, as the industry is rapidly evolving, the barriers to entry are low since currently there are mostly small-scale online brands that are catering to male skincare, providing us an opportunity to enter into the market.

Opportunities

- Because the market is currently dominated by primarily female skincare, the growing trend of male grooming provides us with a large prospective market with significant future growth potential.
- Men have become more aware of the necessity of skincare, which may be leveraged to our advantage because we won't have to raise awareness, and this niche business is expected to develop even more in the next few years due to a bandwagon effect as the trend of male skincare snowballs
- These products are switchable and can be easily transitioned to in the Market, so introducing our brand to the market can also drive a huge population to it.
- Our CSR relating to the stopping of Animal Cruelty will also drive a huge consumer base to use our products.
- We will pioneer the customizable sets in men's skincare.
- Since, the brand is a masstige brand: the brand's product line will be at a price point that fills the gap between mid-market and super-premium while also giving off a luxury or premium feel.
- There would be low Barriers to entry since competition is not strong enough.

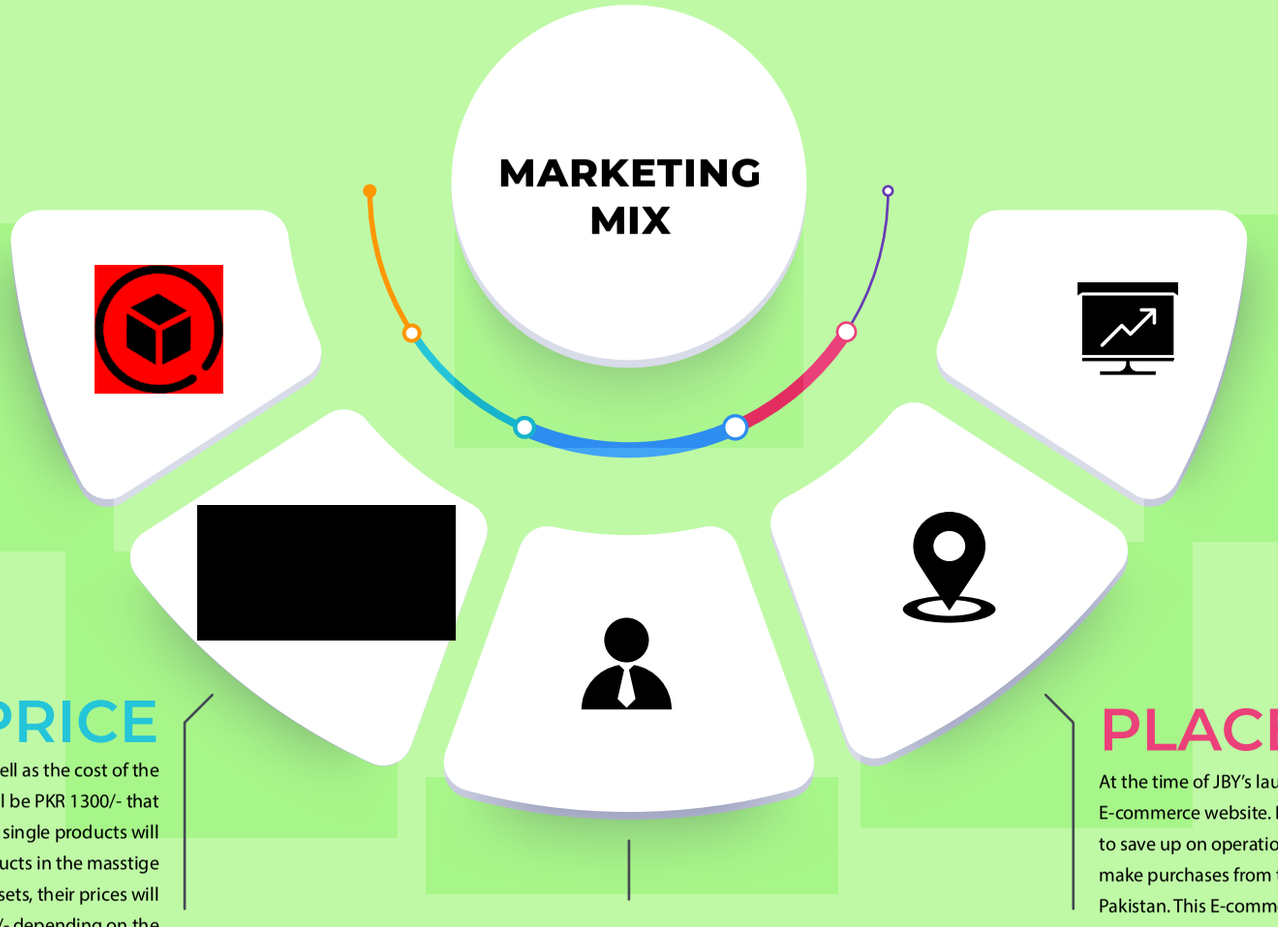

Threats

- There are many new entrants in this field, Majority of them are some local brands that only last for some time.
- The economic situation in Pakistan is unstable, which may impair our customers' purchasing power, causing them to put skincare on the back foot because it is already regarded unimportant by many, resulting in low sales.
- Moreover, the easy switching can also be a threat as a new entrant can distort the market share, so for this top-notch advertising is needed.

MARKETING MIX

PRODUCT

JBY's product portfolio includes facial cleansers, toners, moisturizers with SPF or antioxidants for daytime use, sun blocks, retinol moisturizers for nighttime use, eye creams, lip balms, scented colognes, and face masks. All of our products will be cologne based to provide the customers with a pleasant scent with a healthy skin. These products are produced with premium organic ingredients and are cruelty free since there will not be any unethical testing of these products. As for the packaging, we will use minimal recyclable packaging to reinforce our image of being a conscientious brand that uses organic ingredients even for the packaging.

PROMOTION

JBY's main mode of communication with its customers will be through social media platforms like Facebook, Instagram, TikTok and Twitter. The main method to attract customers will be through sponsored ads and electronic word of mouth. eWOM will be achieved through providing customers with incentives to share our products in their stories and posts. This will enable JBY to develop credibility in the eyes of potential customers as stated by the social learning theory and the potential customers will buy our products to not feel left out.

PRICE

Based on the pricing of the competition as well as the cost of the products, the minimum price point at JBY will be PKR 1300/- that will pertain to single products and the price of single products will go up to PKR 3000/- to keep the products in the masstige category. As for the predetermined product sets, their prices will start from PKR 4000/- and go up to PKR 7000/- depending on the product set. Moving on to the customised sets and products, their prices will depend on what products are included in the set or which ingredients are used in the customised product.

PLACE

At the time of JBY's launch, the distribution channel will solely be an E-commerce website. Having no brick-and-mortar store will enable us to save up on operational costs and the customers will be able to make purchases from the comfort of their homes anywhere in Pakistan. This E-commerce website will be connected to our Social Media pages so that customers can visit it straight from their social media feed resulting in a convenient buying process.

PEOPLE

For the ease of the customers, the products will be sold in predetermined sets so that the customers do not have to spend more time on browsing for the products and they will be able to purchase a complete skincare routine without putting much thought into it. The customers will also have the option to customize sets for themselves if they feel the need to and there will also be consultants available with whom the customers can book appointments so that they can help the customers to choose the best products for their skin. For customers with highly specific needs, they will be able to get their products custom made by adding ingredients to our basic formula to get a finished product that best suits their needs. This represents our multidimensional customer centrality.

RESEARCH ANALYSIS

01 — METHODOLOGY

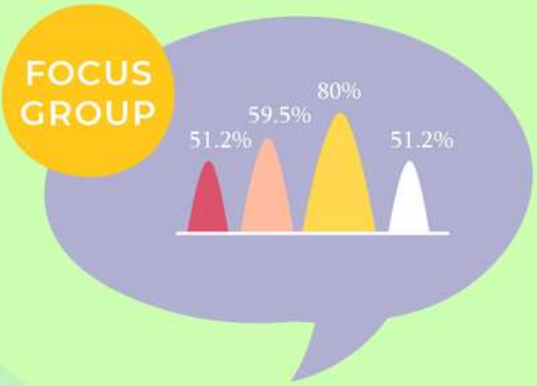

We used mixed-method study to conduct our research. It consisted of surveys and focus groups. Our survey consisted of 84 males from LUMS. All of them are students with an age bracket of 18-24, which means that they belong to Gen Z. We also tried to get to know the income group they belong too, the social media sites they use based on their preferences and about their trip frequency. All of this was done to gauge our knowledge of the background of customers, so that we can understand how to position our product in market. Our focus group was partly photo mediated but mostly based on participants engaging in conversation with each other and moderator to share their insights and judge others and comment on them. Because of the respondent's constraints, we only conducted three focus groups with 6 members in each, but majority of the responses started to homogenize, so we can conclude that our research is almost 90% accurate.

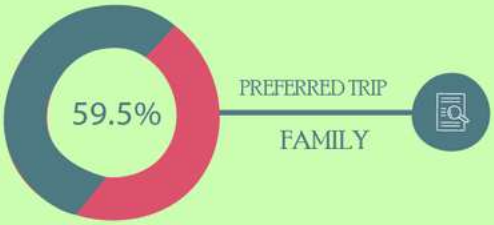

02 — INCOME GROUP

Our product is a packages based product, which contains at least three things, for example, a facewash, a cologned moisturizer and a small perfume or it can also be customized by customers themselves. Hence after determining the product itself, we wanted to get an idea about the ideal pricing of the products. Based on estimates and using other brands as proxy, such as Garnier, L'Oréal, Ponds and other male favourite skin care brands, we estimated that our package will have fixed costs of packaging and variable costs based on products, which will total to a cost of almost 1100 – 1500 Rs. Hence for a masstige product of this sort, the target market analysis was to also incorporate the income bracket which is shown below and gives an idea that majority of the respondents belong to an income group of more than 50,000 Rs/Month

So, after the income bracket analysis, we also had to judge the prices for our product, for that purpose, we had a price range of above 2000 Rs. for our products, which will be customized based on customer's approach to certain products. Majority of respondents said that its price should be in between 1500-2000 Rs. But many also said to make the prices in between 2000-2500Rs., which is also an apt amount and up to our planning. So, we devised that we should be able to price it around 2000-2500 Rs, since majority of the given Income Bracket can afford this.

Behavioral Demographics:

This product is mainly targeted to people who are mostly out in wilderness or have an adventurous aura in them. The package is handy in terms that one can take it on long tours without the hassle of handing all the big items. So, we wanted to analyze how often people go on trips and what kind of people go on trips. Out of all 84 students of LUMS, majority said that they usually go on trips with their families and go once a year. But there were also many students who said that they go on trips with their friends, some go for trekking, camping, and hiking or even jungle cruise several times a year to fulfill the thirst of their adventurous aura.

But apart from these people, our target market also includes people who are conscious about their skin and want to be part of our other USPs or CSR programs. But we also wanted to analyze what influences the buying behaviour of our respondents regarding the purchase of skin care products. Following are the responses by our respondents:

What Influences you to make a skin-care product purchase

		Frequency	Percent	Valid Percent	Cumulative Percent
Valid	Ads on Social Media	5	6.0	6.0	6.0

	Total	84	100.0	100.0

Hence a proper word of mouth or also eWOM is required to attract more customers. Moreover, we also conducted the social media usage analysis and as the most preferred social media site, people respondent as follows:

Most Preferred SM Site

		Frequency	Percent	Valid Percent	Cumulative Percent
Valid		1	1.2	1.2	1.2
	Facebook	9	10.6	10.6	11.8
	Instagram	68	80.0	80.0	91.8

	WhatsApp	1	1.2	1.2	95.3
	YouTube	4	4.7	4.7	100.0
	Total	85	100.0	100.0

From this analysis, we have concluded that majority of the consumers rely on Instagram as their basic go to social media site and we can use that as our main source of eWOM and can also incorporate the YouTube and Snapchat too, because this sample size is just a crux of one side and many people use all these sites in different preferences (attached in appendix) which shows many people use these three sites, Instagram, YouTube, and Snapchat more than any other site.

Focus Group and Qualitative Analysis of Survey:

We also targeted some qualitative responses in our surveys and Focus groups. Majority of the respondents in both focus groups and surveys said that they either purchase these items based on doctor's recommendations or they see one of their friends use them and a chunk of them also said that they follow certain youtubers and celebrities endorsed products and buy them, which opens a lot of areas for us to target for proper placement of our product. Moreover, when asked about the overall liking about the product, we asked participants to share the photos of their used brands. Many were using Neutrogena, Ponds, Garnier, L'Oréal and clean clear in most frequent. Others were also using some medicated products from different pharmacies.

When asked about the main problem with their products, some responded that their skin is dry and after using it, it stays moist for some time and then returns back to the same condition. Others said that they never judged their skin situation based on what products they use, they became the bandwagon and followed their friends or siblings in using these. Moreover, when asked for suggestions, most of them said that they are looking for a reasonably priced products which does not causes irritation on skin specially in winters. Although some of them said that they just followed their friends in using them and might shift to other products, but they also said that a prototype testing sessions or booths must be made to increase the product's awareness. Many also said that they like it as a gift product and a good packaging of it can make more of their mind to make their purchase. Some also said, that the products should also be available in single pieces, easily available (most preferred same day delivery in case of online shopping) and most of all again it should not contain chemicals (which comes in accordance with our products).

Overall, the survey and focus groups helped in determining how to product should be placed in market, how it should be priced, what types of packages it should be in.

CELEBRITY ENDORSEMENT

Now coming to the endorsement and PR Strategy, we will be reaching out to different influencers as well as celebrities that have huge social media following. As discussed earlier, we are focusing on gen Z as well as millennials. The plan is to divide the entire process into 4 parts. As there is a huge age gap between both, we will be attracting them through the content they enjoy according to the age. One group of celebrities, aged 25-40 will cater to the millennials while another group of influencers of the same age will cater to the generation Z.

We plan to take Shoaib Malik on board as his image perfectly goes with the brand. Adventure freaks, those who have strict daily routines and have to be on toes all the time, those who are exposed to skin damaging U.V rays just like him, JBY's products will prove to be the best for them. Moreover, Shoaib Malik has been an icon in the skincare industry having been associated with other brands such as 'TrulyKomal'.

Another Influencer we have in mind Is Irfan Junejo. He is incredibly famous among generation Z because of his unique youtube content. He represents creativity, willingness to take risks, try out new things and being careful in making everything perfect or groom, and that is exactly what Just By You's Vision.

According to the parasocial interaction theory, Irfan Junejo and Shoaib Malik are two charismatic personalities that have developed a strong physiological relationship with people. Therefore, associating these two personalities with our brand will attract their followers as potential customers. Lastly, according to Hofstede cultural dimensions, our brand also targets young male consumers who are low on the masculinity dimension. JBY also promotes soft masculinity as something more softer, caring, and delicate rather than the usual image society has made. Therefore, many young Instagram-famous university students in their early 20's like Humza Amin, Mustafa Babar, M. Ali Raza, Sarim and others will be contacted in PR correspondence and to promote the idea of young men taking care of skin. Moreover, as our main customers will be people enthusiastic about adventure, so working with travel V'loggers and organize different trips for JBY community with them. With these events type we can expand our target market to a great extent.

POSITIONING

The brand positioning of JBY will be based on differentiation through product characteristics i.e., quality and benefit. We will provide the customers with products that are free of synthetic ingredients that are harmful to the customer and the environment so that they have an organic solution to their skincare problems. As for the benefit, we will be making the customers' lives easier by providing them with complete packages that provide a convenient solution to their problems without having to think about what individual products to get. To top off the convenience levels, the customers will be able to customize their products, and this is a feature that no other competitor has. Moving on to perceived differentiation, in an industry where any male product is centered on conservative masculinity, JBY will differentiate itself by building an image that represents soft masculinity with qualities of caring and nurturing that will have a healthy impact on our society.

Other than that, customer centrality is another key factor. For that, customized skincare packages will be available and a range of consultants on the website will be arranged to assess skin care needs of each individual customer and give skin-guidance accordingly. Also, we have strengthened our supply chain so that there aren't any delays in deliveries. Other than that, through sponsor ads on youtube and instagram can help us create a burst. In terms of social media, we will try to engage our audience with different activities like video tutorials and contests by using our own products.

- PR and Influencers (Micro) - Sponsored Ads - Niche Market to be targeted initially - Custom Packages & Singles - Bundle based discounts - Same Day or 2 Days delivery - Best Possible customer care policies.

OVERALL BRAND STRATEGY

Our overall brand strategy for JBY revolves around the concept of the customer centrality paradigm and gradual penetration of the market. Some salient features of the overall brand strategy include:

Going beyond our customers needs to fulfill their wants:
For customers conscious about their skin, they can avail the online chat and call feature of our highly trained professional online consultant available on our website to provide customized skincare recommendations about the type of skincare product they should use based on their skin problems. A happy, fulfilled customer generated because of the right advice will create a snowball effect, inviting more customers.

Extensive promotion of our brand:
As our main target market is of enthusiastic males eager to get into adventure, thus in order to promote our brand even further we shall invite different travel vloggers to go on trips. These will be organized by us and help market our products through this channel, as with those travel vloggers spreading our word as eWOM, we will even attract people outside of Pakistan to buy our products. Our brand's main objective is to make men feel to discover themselves, and not be oppressed by norms of society.

Building a strong online presence initially:
All social media sites relevant to our millennial and Gen Z target market e.g. Instagram, Twitter and Facebook shall have JBY handles present, as well as our own website.
In order to help our brand gain some momentum, JBY will host online talks and lives, as well as different competitions revolving around male skincare trivia and knowledge in general. In line with our endorsement strategy, JBY will hire influencer Irfan Junejo and sportsman Shoaib Malik whose social media presence is well in line with our brand image, and who will increase reach of our social media, and thus our products, to other customer demographics.

Expansion
Within 1-2 years, we will update the terms of these strategies by including new areas to target, new demographics to cover e.g older males looking for anti-aging solutions, and new products to launch.
We are planning to show our physical presence in Lahore DHA at start of year 2 as a physical store has greater memory retention for customers though less footfall than an online store, and will create a great positive impact on our overall image.
Our Main targets for the first year are:

- Create our name in market by using micro influencing and events.
- Creating a strong customer base for our products
- Using extensive microinfluencing to spread enough word for people to come and buy our products.

This we hypothesize based on social learning and Para social theories of customer behaviour
Creating a strong brand image is our main target in the first year.
